The Queen's Award for Enterprise is designed to recognise and encourage the achievements by businesses in the UK, Channel Islands and Isle of Man in the fields of Innovation, International Trade and Sustainable Development.

Her Majesty The Queen bestows the Awards on the advice of the Prime Minister, who is assisted by an Advisory Committee that includes representatives of Government, industry and commerce and the trade unions.

DISMATEC based in Sheffield, UK is an engineering company operating in the worldwide glass manufacturing industry providing services to fulfil customer needs including; project management, furnace structure audits to realise pro-active maintenance and extended furnace life, hot repairs of refractory structures and the required supply to realise a turnkey furnace rebuild or new build.

Michael Horsfield; Managing Director, DISMATEC comments;

“We have had to overcome strong negotiation parameters and adapt to understanding different cultures in the parts of the world where we are operating to win contracts. For us to win the UK’s most prestigious business accolade in the present world economic climate and working in a highly competitive market competing against much larger organisations than ours is a mammoth achievement and gives us inspiration for the future.

DISMATEC is now amongst an elite group of companies that have been recognised as deserving winners of a Queen’s Award. Moreover, a smaller elite group of companies providing services to the glass industry worldwide who have received the award.

Winning this award is exciting for us, the city of Sheffield and the Yorkshire region”.
